6. What is Covered

- 6.1. STANDARD PLANS cover mechanical or electrical failure experienced during normal wear and tear during the Coverage Term. Actual service coverage for mechanical or electrical failure under the Plan begins upon the start of the Coverage Term, which is at the expiration of the shortest portion of the manufacturer's original or factory-refurbished parts and labor warranty. Mechanical or electrical failure that is a direct result of a power surge is covered from Purchase Date through the end of the Coverage Term. The Covered Product must fail during normal usage. This Plan does not replace Your manufacturer warranty, maintenance plan, or insurance policy You may have for the Covered Product.
- 6.2. ENHANCED COVERAGE
 - 6.2.1. Accidental Damage from Handling ("ADH"): If You purchased a Plan that includes ADH Coverage, Your Covered Product is protected against ADH from the Purchase Date through the end of the Coverage Term. ADH only covers operational or mechanical failure caused by ADH and does not include protection against theft, mysterious disappearance, misplacement, viruses, reckless, abusive, willful or intentional conduct associated with handling and use of the Covered Product, cosmetic damage and/or other damage that does not affect the unit functionality, damage caused during shipment between You and Our service providers and any other limitations listed in the "What is Not Covered" section of this Plan. The use of this coverage requires an explanation of where and when the accident occurred as well as a detailed description of the actual event. Failure to provide this information may result in claim denial. ADH coverage is limited to one (1) repair or replacement during the term of this Plan.
 - 6.2.2. Battery Coverage: If You Purchased a Plan that includes battery coverage for rechargeable batteries, Your Plan will include up to one (1) battery repair or replacement during the Coverage Term of the Plan. We may require You to return Your original defective battery to Us to receive a replacement battery. Battery coverage is only available for Covered Products that are new, or manufacturer certified refurbished products.

Understanding what you're covered for starts with finding what plan you have. In this section, we go over the difference between a standard versus enhanced coverage (ADH).

While both plans cover electrical and mechanical failures, enhanced plans provide even more protection including accident or battery damage.

6.2.3. Commercial: For products used in a Commercial setting/environment (i.e. for use other than in a residential single-family setting), a Commercial Plan is required. If purchased, this Plan will furnish replacement parts and/or labor necessary to maintain Your Covered Product that is used in a Commercial setting in those cases where the manufacturer's original warranty is null and void. Selected products are manufactured specifically for commercial use and include a manufacturer's warranty. For those products, actual service coverage under the Plan begins upon expiration of the shortest portion of the manufacturer's original or factory-refurbished parts and labor warranty. During the manufacturer's warranty period, any parts, labor, on-site service, or shipping costs covered by that warranty are the sole responsibility of the manufacturer.

6.2.4. Used Products: For used or pre-owned products, a Used Product Plan is required. For those products, actual service coverage under the Plan begins upon expiration of the shortest portion of the manufacturer's original or factory-refurbished parts and labor warranty, or thirty (30) days. Mechanical or electrical failure that is a direct result of a power surge or ADH is covered from the Purchase Date through the end of the Coverage Term. Failures caused by pre-existing conditions are not covered under this Plan.

Here, we've called out some issues that are unique to product categories.

Remember that you're always covered for electrical and mechanical failures. If you don't see what you're looking for or have any questions, reach out to us at 1-(877) 248-7707!
